

Announcing...

The PROMIS® Health Organization and Elsevier are pleased to announce a partnership for a new open access, peer-reviewed journal – Advances in Patient-Reported Outcomes (APRO) – the official journal of the PROMIS Health Organization.

International

Interdisciplinary

Scientifically Advanced

Clinically Relevant

Open Access Fees for authors waived through 2026!

Get published!

APRO Aims

To promote value in health care through assessment of outcomes that matter to patients.

To support the voice of the patient in clinical decision making, quality improvement, and research.

To publish papers on development, validation and implementation of high-quality PROMs with a strong, but not exclusive, emphasis on PROMIS.

To publish methodological and educational papers on IRT and CAT that advance the science of PROMs.

Inaugural Editors-in-Chief

David Cella, PhD

Professor and Founding Chair
Department of Medical Social Sciences
Feinberg School of Medicine
Northwestern University
Chicago, Illinois USA

Caroline Terwee, PhD

Professor of Outcome Measurement
in Healthcare
Department of Epidemiology and Data Science
Amsterdam University Medical Centers
Amsterdam, Netherlands

Associate Editors

David Bernstein, MD, PhD, MBA, MEI
Adam Carle, PhD
Juhee Cho, MA, PhD
Maria Orlando Edelen, MA, PhD

Patricia Franklin, MD, MBA, MPH
Martijn Oude Voshaar, MSc, PhD
Liv Marit Valen Schougaard, MS, PhD

Interested in being a reviewer? Please email info@promishealth.org.